Investors in Angas Securities expect a healthy reward on their investment.

As South Australia's leading fixed interest specialist, Angas Securities has proven its ability to deliver consistent income for prudent investors, year on year. These investors understand that our business is about building assets or extracting value where others fail to see an opportunity.

As such, our funds under management have grown, along with our balance sheet and the interest we will pay Angas investors over the 12 months to June 30, 2013 is projected to come in at more than $20 million. With falling interest rates and uncertain economic times, generating real capital growth remains elusive for many. Yet, Angas investors know they will not only see a robust rate of return, they are also investing in local people, jobs and infrastructure.

That means the rewards are shared. Or, to put it another way, what is good for our investors is also good for South Australia.
