GLOBAL ECONOMY

- Continues to recover following the sharp retraction in late 2008/early 2009
- Performed much better than was feared likely
- Expected 4% growth in next couple of years which is the average pace of growth over the past decade
- Advanced economies likely to remain subdued for some time
- Relatively strong growth expected in Asia

GLOBAL ECONOMY (CONTINUED)

- Whilst outlook has improved, significant uncertainties remain:
 - Sovereign debt risk
 - Durability of the recovery (impact of temporary government assistance and inventory cycle expansion is waning)
 - Chinese economy over heating
 - USA's economy is very weak
 - Talk of double dip recession
 - Bank credit growth is very weak

AUSTRALIAN ECONOMY

- Only one of few countries to avoid a recession in 2009
- Economy has slowed significantly
- Unemployment rate 5.1% (peaked at 5.75%)
- GDP forecast 3.25% in 2010 and 4% in 2011
- Underlying inflation forecast 2.5% for the second half of 2010
- RBA cash rate now 4.5%
- Major positive influences:
 - Strong commodity prices
 - China
 - Strong domestic banking sector

AUSTRALIAN PROPERTY OUTLOOK

- Supply continues to be on hold
- Financing still a struggle
- Demand for space slow
- Fundamentals sound:
 - Unemployment comparatively low
 - Prospect of economic growth positive
- Likely to result in improvement in demand
- However, subdued outlook for next 12 to 18 months
